

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Maryville, Cork, November 22nd, 1858.

P R E F A C E .

Since the publication in 1845 of my View of the Coinage of Scotland a large number of communications have been made to me of Scottish Coins either newly discovered, or which had escaped the researches of myself and of those other Numismatists who have made this series of Coins their study, and amongst the large mass of materials thus accumulated, were a number of Coins and impressions of Coins differing from those already published, and sufficient to form three Supplemental Plates ; I have therefore thought, that a Supplement to my former volume might be desirable, particularly as this very extensive and interesting series, seems to have of late years attracted more attention

To facilitate a comparison between the Coins, as arranged in the Original Work, and those given in this Supplement, I have adopted the same order of exhibiting the different branches of the subject with such corrections and alterations as subsequent and more accurate information enabled me to make, and by the kindness of my Edinburgh Correspondents, particularly the late Dr. W. H. Scott, and George Sim, Esq., and the assistance I have derived from the Proceedings of the Antiquaries of Scotland I have been able to add a considerable number of notices of discoveries of hoards or parcels of Coins found in Scotland.

I cannot conclude this Preface without returning thanks to those Gentlemen, who in various ways have opened to me so many sources of information and in recording the numerous contributions, which this Supplement has received from the communications of my late much lamented friend Doctor William H. Scott, an opportunity presents itself, which I trust my readers will excuse my embracing, of alluding to the great loss we have all as Numismatists sustained, by the premature death of this talented and amiable young writer. It was in 1846, that I was introduced to his acquaintance, by the late Alexander Macdonald, Esq., Principal Keeper of the Register of Deeds, Edinburgh, a Gentleman well able to appreciate his talents ; at that time he was only 16 or 17 years of age, and from that period until his death, we constantly corresponded on Numismatic and Archaeological subjects, and the pages of this Supplement afford ample proofs of his extensive knowledge of the Scottish Coinage ; but the beaten paths of this interesting science did not satisfy my young friend, and his extraordinary knowledge of the ancient languages of Asia, enabled him to grapple with branches of the subject hitherto nearly unknown, and in which his important discoveries have excited the admiration of his brother Numismatists. His premature death however has arrested the progress of these discoveries, and I fear it will be long before another writer will arise so well qualified in every respect to pursue these difficult branches of Numismatic science to a satisfactory conclusion.

To George Sim, Esq., Edinburgh, I am also greatly indebted for his valuable communications, which have supplied me with a large portion of the materials of which this Supplement is composed.

From the late Alexander Macdonald, Esq., Principal Keeper of the Register of Deeds, Edinburgh, I have received many important extracts taken by himself, from original records of the Cunzie House. He died Decr. 23rd, 1850.

From the late William Fergusson, Esq., W. S., to whom the former part of this work was so largely indebted, this Supplement has derived much important matter.

To the late Rev. Fossey, Tackaberry, I was much indebted for having procured for me a selection of Scottish Coins, from a private cabinet offered for sale, and which has added to my collection several extremely fine and rare specimens.

To my friend Richard Sainthill, Esq., I am as usual indebted for information, procured for me from various sources relative to the present work.

To James Carruthers, Esq., I have to return thanks for Coins and notices of Coins often and abundantly supplied.

To the Proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, I am much indebted for notices and descriptions of Hoards and Parcels of Coins found in Scotland, and which has enabled me to add to and correct my list of these interesting discoveries.

To the Faculty of Advocates, I am highly indebted for a list of the Scottish Coins in their cabinets, and for the arrangement and description of which and drawings of remarkable Specimens, I am indebted to Messrs. Sim and Miller.

To F. W. Miller, Esq., I am particularly indebted for a large portion of the Drawings made for this Supplement, and which included nearly the entire of the unpublished Scottish Coins, in the cabinets of Dr. Scott and Mr. Sim.

To the Very Rev. Richard Butler, Dean of Clonmacnoise, I am indebted for several Scottish Coins, particularly the fine Billon Penny of James I., noticed in this Supplement.

To Rev. Professor Christmas, I am indebted for impressions and notices of rare Scottish Coins, from his rich and extensive cabinets.

To J. Kermack Ford, Esq., London, I am indebted for several notices of unpublished varieties in his cabinet, which is rich in Scottish Coins.

To Thomas Watson, Esq., Edinburgh ; John Scott, Esq., Leith ; William Webster, Esq., 17, Great Russell Street, Covent Garden ; C. R. Taylor, Esq., 10, Tavistock Street ; P. J. Whelan, Esq. ; George Eastwood, Esq., London ; Dr. Chaumont, formerly of Edinburgh ; and John Goddard Johnson, Esq., Norwich, I am indebted for Coins, notices, and impressions of Coins of considerable importance to this Supplement.

TO THE

COINAGE OF SCOTLAND.

DAVID I.—1124.

Two Pennies of this King have occurred, for a notice of which I am indebted to Mr. Webster, they both read EOLA . ON . BER.

Four other specimens differing from those already published, will also be found in the first plate to this Supplement.

MALCOLM IV.—1153.

A curious coin now in my own Cabinet seems to belong to this Prince ; it is engraved in the first plate to this Supplement.

HENRY EARL OF NORTHUMBERLAND.

Some varieties of the pennies assigned to this Earl have lately occurred, but unfortunately all these Coins are in such bad condition that their appropriation is far from satisfactory. Mr. Weddell thinks the letters CON . ON., Nos. 19, 20, 21, of the first plate to my original work signified Consul, that term at this period being, he says frequently used for the word Earl, and he refers to Mat. Paris Edit. 1684, p. 850.

WILLIAM THE LION.—1165.

Since the publication of the original work several additional varieties, most of them from the Advocates' Cabinet, have occurred to me which will be found in the Descriptive Catalogue, one with head to its left, and another of hitherto unpublished type kindly presented to me by C. R. Taylor, Esq., appear in the first plate.

ALEXANDER II.—1214.

One or two varieties of this King's Coins have lately occurred.

ALEXANDER III.—1249.

Of the coins of this King, the only additional variety of any importance which has occurred to me is one of his 3rd Coinage, with head to its right and Sceptre, and the moneyer WALTER . DVN., not hitherto occurring of the Dunbar mint. The other varieties added to the Descriptive Catalogue, are only a few with blundered legends.

JOHN BALIOL.—1292.

A variety of the Halfpenny occurs in Mr. Sim's Cabinet, with mullets in the 2nd and 4th quarters, instead of the 1st and 3rd, also a variety of the Penny in the Advocates' Cabinet.

DAVID II.—1329.

Several unpublished varieties of the Groats, Half Groats, and Pennies of this reign have lately occurred, which will be found in the Descriptive Catalogue to this Supplement.

ROBERT II.—1371.

A Dundee Half Groat differing materially as to legends and adjuncts from that already published, and for which I am indebted to William Webster, Esq., has lately been found ; it will appear in the Descriptive Catalogue, and 1st Plate to this Supplement. Three of the Pennies of this mint are now known, one of which has the B behind the head.

Varieties of the Edinburgh and Perth Half Groats, with B behind the head have also occurred ; both are in the Cabinet of William Hay Newton, Esq.

ROBERT III.—1390.

In the hoard of 70 Groats of this King, found in Edinburgh in 1846, several occurred of Aberdeen and Dunbarton, particularly the former, which afforded several unpublished varieties ; the Aberdeen Groat may therefore be estimated at the 3rd degree of rarity, instead of the 7th, and the Dunbarton at the 4th, instead of the 6th. Many varieties of the Edinburgh and the Perth mints have since also occurred, including an unique Penny struck at Perth in the Cabinet of the Advocates.

JAMES I.—1406.

As may be expected from the great number and variety of this King's groats, a great many unpublished varieties have occurred to me, all however of the Edinburgh mint, except one of Perth, in the Cabinet of Dr. Chaumont, one of Stirling, in Mr. Sim's, another in the Advocates' Cabinet, and one of Linlithgow in my own. It is rather singular however, that although the groats of this King are more common than those of any other Scottish King, no smaller silver coins should have yet appeared ; the Pence and Halfpence, which from the evidence of the Exchequer Rolls would seem to have been struck, were probably Billon, of which coinage we have numerous specimens, some as to standard of considerable fineness. Of these Billon coins only one Penny has been yet discovered ; it is now in my Cabinet, and I am indebted for it to my friend Dean Butler ; it is of the finest Billon, and weighs 15 grains. The Halfpence are very numerous.

JAMES II.—1438.

I can add but little of any interest or importance to the Silver coinage of this reign, several varieties of the groats have however occurred to me, which will be found in the Descriptive Catalogue, they are all of the Edinburgh Mint, except one of Sterling, in my own Cabinet, and another of the same town in that of the Advocates.

JAMES III.—1460.

The Silver Coins to be added to the list of this King's money are still fewer than those of his predecessor, but a Groat and Penny, both of Edinburgh, and of great rarity will be found in the Plates; some varieties of the Berwick Groats also occur.

JAMES IV.—1488.

Several very interesting additions to the Silver Coinage of this King have lately occurred, four of which are engraved in the Plates to this Supplement; notwithstanding, however, the great variety of the coins of this reign, the only names of mints which have yet appeared on them, are those of Edinburgh and Aberdeen; No. 123 of Supplement Catalogue, resembles in legend and adjuncts the three quarter faced Groats of this King; I cannot recollect in whose Cabinet it is.

JAMES V.—1514.

The new discoveries relating to this reign, have added several numbers to the Descriptive Catalogue, but none differing materially from those already published,

MARY.—1544.

A few varieties of the Silver Coins of this reign have lately occurred, not however materially differing from those already published.

The piece with busts of the King and Queen (Francis and Mary), face to face, and which I have considered as a Medal is noticed by Le Blanc, p. 269, who says, it is rather a Jetton than a coin. The type and legend of the obverse seems to have been copied from the Gold Ducats,

JAMES VI.—1567.

Several varieties of this King's Silver money have occurred to me since the publication of the original work, chiefly of the Nobles and Half Nobles; one of the former in type and legend similar to No. 537 of the original work, bears the date 1580, three years later than any hitherto published. The greater part of these varieties are in the Advocates' Cabinet.

Several of the extracts from the Scottish Records, and for which I am indebted to the late Alexander Macdonald, Esq., relate to this reign, and the two following to the Silver Coinage, by which it appears that the Thistle Mark, Half Mark, Quarter Mark, and One Eighth Mark pieces struck from December 10th, 1602, to August 1604, were 214 stone, 11 lbs., 6 ozs., and 6 den., but no mention is made of the one sixteenth mark, and it is probable that no such coin was struck, and that the specimen mentioned in the Descriptive Catalogue may be a clipped Eighth.

That the Silver coined from February 1605,* to July 1606, was 332 stone, 7 lb., 1 oz., 23 den., 2 grs., the Coins enumerated being Two Shillings, One Shilling and Sixpenny pieces, the first probably in mistake for the Half Crowns.

That the Balance Marks and Half Marks should be called Half and Quarter Marks; they appear to have been struck between September 1591, and December 1592; 232 stone, 9½ lbs. were coined.

A Silver Half Noble as No. 543, with date 1577, is in the Cabinet of Mr. Sim.

The Quarter Thistle Noble was in the collection of Mr. Weir, and not in that of the late Mr. Fergusson as mentioned at pp. 211 and 279 of the original work.

CHARLES I.—1625.

The varieties of this King's Silver Coins which have since occurred are not of much importance, consisting chiefly of differences in legend and M. M.

The Half Noble with REX instead of LEX, probably proceeded from design rather than mistake, a circumstance the more likely, many of these coins having been evidently forgeries of the time.

WILLIAM AND MARY.—1688.

I have no observation to make on the Silver Coins of this reign, except that the description of the five shilling piece in the original work, No. 736 is incorrect; it should be on the obverse, "5 under the busts," and on the reverse, the numeral V. should be omitted.

* Old Style, that is our February 1606.

WILLIAM III.—1694.

A Five Shilling piece has occurred with date 1700.

 ANNE.—1701.

There is in Mr. Sim's Cabinet a Five Shilling Piece as No. 765, but with the legend ANNA . D . G. M. BR . FR , & HIB . REG .

A discussion has lately arisen relative to the coins minted in Edinburgh after the Union, as to the precise period when the Mullet was added to the E under the bust, and as to whether there are Crowns and Half Crowns with that mark.

Mr. Gibbs was the first to draw attention to these points, and the matter was taken up by the late lamented Dr. Scott, Mr. Sim and others who referred to my work as authority for the existence of the Crowns and Half Crowns with Stars. It will be perceived however on reference to my original work on the Coinage of Scotland, (p. 121), that I have given these coins on the authority of Ruding, in whose Plate 38, No. 13 and 14, they will be found, but as it now appears that no such coins are to be found in the principal Cabinets of Scottish Coins, it seems probable that none such were minted, and that Ruding who refers to no authority on the subject, merely supposed that as Shillings and Sixpences were found with this mark, that Crowns and Half Crowns must also have been struck.

Since the publication of my Scottish Coinage, several shillings of 1707, with the mullet have appeared, as also a Half Crown of 1709 without the mullet.

At p. 68 of the original work, it is stated that the quantity of Silver brought in 1707 into the Edinburgh Mint to be restruck amounted to £411,117 10s. 9d. Sterling, but that a considerable portion of this money was never struck.

I have since met with a MMS. taken from the mint accounts of the coinage from 1660 to 1754, which states that the quantity of Silver actually coined at Edinburgh by moneyers sent down to Scotland during this reign, amounted to 103,346 lbs., and the Sterling value at 5s. 2d. per ounce, £320,372 12s. 0d.

SUPPLEMENT

GOLD COINAGE OF SCOTLAND.

ROBERT II.—1371.

Only one variety of this reign and that not an important one, has occurred since the publication of the original work ; it will be found in the Descriptive Catalogue to this Supplement. Of his successor Robert III., I have discovered none.

JAMES I.—1406.

The Lions of this King present us with many new varieties, as indeed may be expected from the numerous variations in type, legend and adjuncts exhibited by those already published.

Many Numismatists of eminence still entertain a doubt whether all the lozenge Lions do not belong to James II., and the question I will admit does appear to be not altogether free from difficulty, but for the reasons given in the original work and which it is unnecessary here to recapitulate, I feel disinclined to alter my opinion. An attention to the adjuncts and ornaments on these Lions seems alone, sufficient to assign a large portion of them to James I.

JAMES II.—1437-8.

A few varieties of the Lions have lately occurred to me.

JAMES III.—1460.

The Gold Coins of this Prince present us with nothing new except a single variety of the Unicorns which will be found in the Descriptive Catalogue.

I may here observe that the small mullets as ornaments although a general characteristic of the coins of James IV., are often found on those of James III., as an examination of the coins of the latter in all metals, will satisfy us.

The Unicorn with EXVRGAT ., &c., on both sides can no longer be considered as unique, at least three or four specimens being known.

JAMES IV.—1488.

A fine Unicorn has since the publication of the original work come into my possession, which although without the numeral, I can scarcely avoid assigning to this King; it bears exclusively the Roman letters, and has every other mark of James IV's. coinage, and if the letters XC. under the Unicorn should be considered as intended to express the date 1490, as we see on some of the continental coins of this period, it will be decisive of the question.

JAMES V.—1514.

There appears to be some reason for supposing that the Ecus of this King presented some remarkable varieties of Legend although from their rarity probably only patterns. In the Catalogue of the Cabinet of Mr. Cuming, Secretary of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, one is described with obverse as No. 102, and the legend of the reverse PER . LINGNV . (sic); CRVCES . SALVI . SVMVS * ., and the late Mr. Ferguson mentioned another with CRVCIS . ARMA . SALVVM .

MARY—1542.

In an act of 1555, the Gold Pieces of one-fourth of an ounce are ordered to pass for £3; these must be the Ryals with the Queen's portrait generally weighing about 115 grains.

There is a Ryal with date 1558 in the Cabinet of Barron Grahame, Esq., of Morphie, Curator of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland.

* Another similar has since come into the Author's possession.

FRANCIS AND MARY—1558.

King and Queen's Gold Ducat. It appears by a record that the piece engraved in the 14th Plate, No. 53 of the original work, was part of a coinage ordered to be struck in 1558, four of them to the ounce troy, to pass for £3 each, and Thirty Shillings the Half; the value agrees with that of Gold given in the Table.

No mention is made of this Coinage in Le Blanc, although he notices the Silver pieces with heads.

JAMES VI.—1567.

I have not found any additional varieties of this King's Gold Coins struck before his accession to the English throne, but of his coins struck after that period a few varieties of his Crown, Half Crown and Thistle Crown have occurred to me, which will be found in the Descriptive Catalogue.

Of the £6 and £3 pieces, with Sword and Sceptre, it appears from the Scottish Records that from Dec. 1602, to Aug. 1604, 13 st., 12 lb., 10 oz., 14 den, were struck, but the only specimens of 1604 (from March to August), I have met any account of are one £6, and one £3 piece in Mr. White's collection, and one of £3 in another.

The £12 *, £6 †, £3 ‡, £2 8s., § and 30 Shilling || pieces, struck from Feb. 1605, to July 1606, were 28 st., 5 lb., 12 oz., 20 den.

The Gold Thistle Nobles appear to have been struck between Feb. 1590 and Sept. 1592, and the quantity coined 2 st., 5 lb., 10 oz., which at four to the ounce would give 1,624 coins—they were 23 carets, 7 grains fine, and at £28 per ounce, the value would be £7 each coin.

It appears from extracts from the Register that a Coinage of Gold took place between November 1591 and November 1592, of four and £2 pieces; no description is given, but it is probable they were the Hat pieces, of which however the smaller coin has not yet appeared, and probably was never struck; the quantity coined was 3st. 6lb. 14oz., and as the weight of the Hat piece is about 69 grains, it would give nearly seven to the ounce, and about 4,100 coins, supposing no Half pieces were struck; they were 22 carets, five conformable to the ordinance; in 1597 the ounce of Gold was raised to £30 and the Hat Piece to £4 9s. 0d.

In a note in the hand writing of the late Mr. Mathew Young, mention is made of a Thistle Crown of James, the same as Cardonnel, Pl. IV., No. 4, wanting the I . R . on the Thistle side, and inscribed on the Rose side I . A . D . G. MAG . BR . F . & HIB . REX., and the weight only eighteen grains, little more than half the weight of the common Thistle Crown.

A Half Rider with date 1593, was sold at Mr. Cuff's sale for the very high price of £10 2s. 6d.

I am not aware of any additional varieties of the Gold Coins of Charles I. or William III., except a Quarter Unit of the former which exhibits FR . instead of FRAN.

SUPPLEMENT

BILLON COINAGE OF SCOTLAND.

ROBERT III.—1390.

A fine Billon Penny of this King has lately come into my possession ; it is probably unique ; an Aberdeen Penny in fine Billon has also occurred.

No Halfpence in Billon have yet appeared, and possibly none were struck.

JAMES I.—1406.

A fine Billon Penny of this King struck at Edinburgh, has lately come into my possession ; it is the first I have met with ; his Halfpence of which several additional varieties have occurred are extremely common.

JAMES II.—1437-8.

A few varieties of this King's Halfpence, both in Billon and Copper have occurred, but no large quantity of Coins in these metals appear to have been struck in this reign ; those with crowns and Fleurs de lis are more common, since the discovery at Leith of several of that type ; they weighed from 8 to $12\frac{1}{2}$ grains.

JAMES III.—1460.

Since the publication of the original work, several most interesting and important additions have occurred to this King's Billon Coinage ; these are of two descriptions, viz., fine Billon Pennies and Halfpennies, and Placks and Half Placks, the two last differing in type from any hitherto known. Of the first we have the Aberdeen Penny in fine Billon, of which three specimens are now known, and of the second we have the Plack and Half Plack, the latter of very fine Billon nearly approaching to Silver, these Placks differing in type or rather in adjuncts from those hitherto published, belong I have little doubt to James III., but I think it right to observe that a most distinguished writer the late Dr. Scott, has expressed a different opinion, and assigned them to James V., chiefly on the ground that three Placks of this type were found with some three quarter faced Groats of that King, but they appear to me even earlier than the common Placks of James III., being of the same type as the fine Billon Half Placks, evidently belonging to the 1st Coinage of Placks.

The lately discovered Placks and Half Placks differ from the Placks previously known in having a Cross fourchy, instead of a Crown at each side of the Arms ; several of these Placks have been discovered, but the Half Placks are extremely rare, not more than two or three being I believe known.

Of the Halfpence and Placks of ordinary type we have also many new varieties, which will be found in the Descriptive Catalogue to this Supplement, one of the most remarkable being a Halfpenny in Brass, probably originally washed with Silver, and used as a substitute for Billon, and I may here remark that in the original Descriptive Catalogue and Description of the Plates, the Billon Halfpence of this King are by mistake put down as Pennies, but in the other parts of the original work they are rightly termed Halfpence.

No additions to the Billon Coins of James IV., have occurred to me.

JAMES V.—1514.

The only additions to this King's Billon I have met with, are a variety of the Penny, and a few varieties of the Placks and Half Placks differing, however, but little from those in the original work.

MARY—1542.

A great addition has been lately made to the Billon Coins of this reign. Of those struck before her marriage with Francis, several Hardheads have been discovered, some with dates 1555 and 1556, and one with a Heart and Mullet of five points countermarked, and of those struck after that event, a large hoard of several thousand Hardheads was a year or two since discovered, bearing the extraordinary legend ET . MA . D . G . R . SCOT . D . D . VIEN . the name FRAN . being omitted, and on the reverse the usual type and legend, but the date 58, the two first figures being omitted, there was also one with 1560 in the Cabinet of the late Dr. Scott ; no other date but 1559, was to be found on these Coins until these discoveries.

The late close examination of the Advocates' Cabinet by my friend Mr. Sim, has supplied me with large additions to the Descriptive Catalogue of the Coins of this as well as many other reigns.

JAMES VI.—1567.

A considerable addition has been made to the Billon series of this King, principally as to the varieties of legends and adjuncts, some Coins also considered as unique or nearly so have since become comparatively common, particularly the Half Plack, Half Hardhead, and Copper Penny, all hitherto regarded as unique, but of each of which at least two or three specimens are now known.

The Cabinet of the Faculty of Advocates has added largely to the varieties of this reign.

CHARLES I.—1625.

A great number of varieties of the Half Turner and a few of the Turners have been lately added to the Descriptive Catalogue of this King's Billon, they consist principally of M . M . and differences in the legend.

WILLIAM AND MARY—1688.

A few differences as to Dates and M . M . have been added to the Descriptive Catalogue.

WILLIAM III.—1694.

Only one additional variety of the Bawbee has occurred. The Bodle with the King's name at full length is now rather common.

In the Descriptive Catalogue of the original work, No. 124, the words " as No. 121," should be " as No. 122."

Since the foregoing pages were written, I received from J. Kermack Ford, Esq., notices of several unpublished varieties of Scottish Coins in his Cabinet, of which the Billon will be found in the Descriptive Catalogue, and the Silver and Gold at the end.

APPENDIX No. 2.

ACCOUNT OF SEVERAL HOARDS OR PARCELS OF COINS DISCOVERED IN SCOTLAND.

1788. Oct. 17.—Extract of a Letter from Kelso. “The workmen now employed in digging the foundations of some religious houses which stood upon St. James’ Green, where the great annual fair of that name is now held in the neighbourhood of this town, have dug up two stone coffins in which the bones were entire, several pieces of painted glass, a silver coin of Robert II., and other antique relics.”

1802. Jan.—At Barnhill, Parish of Kirkcolm, John Gibson and Andrew Taylor, labourers, digging up the rubbish of an old castle, discovered a number of Gold coins. They are broader than a Guinea, but so thin that one of them is not worth more than nine shillings. Some of them are almost smooth and seem to be of great antiquity.

1846.—There was found at Edinburgh a hoard of seventy groats of Robert III., all of which came into the possession of the late William Ferguson, Esq., several of them were minted at Aberdeen, and a few at Dunbarton, the remainder at Edinburgh.

1848.—In the latter part of this year, the Exchequer of Scotland received from the North of Scotland a hoard found there, consisting of German Rix Dollars, and a few ten shilling pieces of James VII. and William and Mary.

1850.—In the Island of Islay a large hoard of Anglo Saxon Pennies was found, a small portion only of which were recovered by the Exchequer, viz., about ninety pennies and several fragments, they consisted of the following, and are minutely described by late the Dr. W. H. Scott, in the proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, Vol. 1, p. 74—80.

Anlaf. K. Northumberland;	1	Eadgar, three with head,	64
Aethelstan, one with head,	5	Uncertain and rude probably of Aethelstan,
Eadmund,	2	&c.,	4
Eadred, one with head,	5	St. Peter Penny,	1
Eadwig,	2	Cufic,	1

1851.—In a moss near Kinross was found a hoard of from 700 to 800 Roman Denarii; they were of Galba, (one) Otho, (two) Titus, Trajan, Hadrian, Antoninus Pius, Faustina, Senr., Marcus Aurelius, Faustina, Junr., Commodus and Severus, and mostly poor, the Galba Rev. ROMA . RENASC . being by far the best.

1851. Oct.—A boy whilst reaping in the Parish of Portmoak, Fifeshire, turned up a Roman coin with the point of his hook; on further search upwards of 600 Roman denarii were found all lying close together, as if they had been enclosed in a bag, and at a depth of only three or four inches from the surface, at the same spot were found an iron sword, and a beautiful but imperfect silver ornament thought to have formed the crest of a helmet, the series extended from Nero to Severus, both inclusive, and is thought to have formed the treasure of a soldier in the Northern expedition of Sept. Severus, A.D., 208, the coins are described at full length in the proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, Vol. 1, p. 60.

1852. March.—At Stonehaven, whilst some labourers were engaged in trenching a piece of ground on the once well known site of Megra Market, they came upon an ancient Roman urn, containing upwards of 200 Silver coins.*

Aberdeen Journal, March, 1852.

The coins were from Vespasian to Hadrian, both inclusive, and were sent to the Exchequer.

1852. April 6th.—At Invergordon, whilst two men were employed on the preceding Tuesday, in removing a large stone which had lain above ground for a considerable time on the farm of Millcraig, in this parish, they were astonished and delighted to see about sixty silver coins fall out of a cavity which had been made in the stone, and which was carefully covered over with another thin stone made exactly to fit the top of the place of deposit. The coins were composed chiefly of Spanish Dollars of the reign of Philip IV., with a few English Shillings ranging in dates from 1620 to 1638. Several of the Dollars were sold by the finders for 2s. 6d. each, although worth nearly double, being heavier than our five shilling pieces. It is possible the stones may at some time have formed part of a building.

1852.—From the Edinburgh News of Oct. 16th. “A few days since a workman in the employment of Mr. Scott, Builder, Portobello, whilst engaged in digging the foundation of a house in Portobello Links, discovered a mass of old silver coins secreted in the earth. He continued to keep the matter quiet until a convenient opportunity, when he carried off the treasure to Edinburgh where the coins were sold for some paltry sum. They were in number about 600.*

1852. Nov.—At Knowe, Isle of Islay, five Anglo Saxon pennies, viz., Aethelstan, two—Eadred, one—Eadgar, two, were found by a farm servant in trenching the ground.—Proceedings of Soc. Ant. Scot., Vol. 1, p. 218.

1852.—About this year a small parcel of coins was found near Edinburgh, consisting of three Placks of James III., and three or four three quarter faced Groats of James V.

1853. May.—In a field near Dunbar an Aureus of Nero was found.

1853.—On the farm of Cairncross, the property of David Milne Home, Esq., in the Parish of Coldinghame, and County of Berwick, were found 693 Silver pennies chiefly of the reigns of Edward I. and II.

At Fortrose, Co. Ross, two Roman copper coins were dug up in the garden of Lieut.-Col. Maclean, at the site of the Bishop's Palace.

The coins discovered at Stonehaven, Portobello, Cairncross, and Fortrose, are particularly described by the late Dr. Scott, in the proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, Vol. 1, p. 226.

1854. Sept. 15.—In the Kirkyard of Monifieth, nearly 700 Silver coins of Alexander III., and Edward I. and II., with a few sterlings of Brabant, were found about two and a half feet below the surface, the Edwards were of the mints Canterbury, London, York, Lincoln, Bristol, Durham, Kingston, Berwick, St. Edmundsbury, Newcastle, Robert de Hadelie, and Dublin, they are more particularly described in the Proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, p. 68—9.

Of the following discoveries I have been unable to ascertain the dates or years in which they occurred.

At Leith several Billon Halfpence of James II. with crowns and fleurs de lis were found a few years since.

* It has been ascertained that they were mostly of Alexander III. of Scotland and the Edwards of England.

A Half Rider of James VI., 1599, was found near Brechin, Forfarshire.—Soc. Ant. Scot. Pro., Vol. I., p. 72.

In the Parish of Edzell, Forfarshire the following coins were found—

James II. 12 Halfpence.	James VI. 7 Hardheads with Lion.
James IV. 2 Placks. 1 with Arms.
James V. 1 Penny. 1 Half Hardhead.
Mary. 1 Plack, 2 Hardheads, 1555—1556. 1 Plack.
— Soc. Ant. Scot. Pro. , Vol. 1, p. 73.

At Baads Parish of Peter Culter, Aberdeenshire, 22 Foreign Silver Coins were found chiefly of the 17th Century, and of France, Austria, Saxony, Holland, and Sweden, and three of Monaco.—Soc. Ant. Scot. Pro., Vol. 1, p. 73.

Near Newstead, Roxburghshire, a great number of Roman Coins were found at different times, including the following—

2 Consular Denarii nearly defaced.	Augustus 2nd, brass.
Mark Antony, denarius.	Nero, Aureus.

A nearly regular succession of Coins from Vespasian to Aurelius, including—

2 Denarii of Vespasian.	Trajan, an Aureus, a Denarius, and a 2nd Brass.
1 3rd Brass do.	Hadrian, 9 Denarii, and a 2nd Brass.
An Aureus of Titus.	Ant. Pius, an Aureus.
A Denarius of Domitian.	Faustina Sen., a Denarius.

Later Coins of Victorinus and Carausius in 3rd Brass, Gal. Maximilianus, 2nd Brass, Constantinus Magnus, four in 3rd Brass.

These Coins are particularly described by Dr. John Alexander Smith in the 1st Vol. of the Proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, p. 33—38.

At the Roman Camp Harburn, a one-eighth Mark of James VI., 1601, was found.—Soc. Ant. Scot. Pro., Vol. 1, p. 126.

At Braco, Lanarkshire, four Greek Silver Coins of Phocis, Bæotia, Athens, and Arsaces XXI. were found, and on the line of the Roman Road, near the same place, 14 Roman Silver Coins were found, viz. :—

Consular. Postumia,	1	Antoninus Pius,	1
Imperial. Galba,	1	M. Aurelius,	1
.... Domitian,	1	Lucilla,	1
.... Trajan,	2	Commodus,	1
.... Hadrian,	3	Crispina,	1
.... Sabina,	1	— Soc. Ant. Scot. Pro. , Vol. 1, p. 72.

The great number of reigns exhibited in so small a hoard would lead us to suppose that it was the property of a coin collector.

A Hindo-Scythian coin in copper of Azes was found in Perthshire.—Soc. Ant. Scot. Pro., Vol. 1, p. 126.

At Bonnington, near Edinburgh, a number of Bodles or Placks, together with several of the small Tobacco Pipes popularly termed Celtic or Elfin Pipes were found, and a notice of the discovery communicated to the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland by Dr. Wilson.—Soc. Ant. Scot. Pro., Vol. 1, p. 182.

1858. The Aberdeen Herald states that some labourers recently dug up on the Skene Road near Aberdeen a red earthen ware vessel, containing a considerable number of old coins. Among them are three billon placks dated 1584; they have the name of the mint in full: "Oppidum Edinburgi," and are of the highest degree of rarity.*

Daily Scotsman, Edinburgh, Nov. 1, 1858.

* No such coins bearing a date are known and the writer possibly only meant that they were coined in 1584, as many ordinances relative to the Scottish coinage and particularly to the Placks were made in that year.

Of the Medal or Jetton bearing the heads of the Dauphin and Mary face to face, two specimens are known.

The $\frac{1}{2}$ Sword Dollar with date 1568, has occurred and is engraved in Pl. 10, No. 203, of the original work, but has been omitted in the Descriptive Catalogue.

On Nos. 561 and 562, no thistle heads are at the sides of the Arms ; the Plate 11, No. 214 is correct. No. 50, and not No. 49, of the Gold Coins in the original work is the Coin engraved in Pl. 12, No. 16 ; they were both in Mr. Ferguson's cabinet.

In the Advocates' Museum, are 4 coins of Alexander II. viz. : two with bare head to its right without Sceptre, and two do. with Sceptre.

Of the Plack or Atkinson of James VI., 3 Specimens are known besides that in the British Museum, viz. : the late Mr. Ferguson's, Mr. Watson's, and the Author's. The Penny of James III. noticed at p. 4, is of Billon and not Silver.

The three quarter face Groat of James V., No. 29, of Pl. 3, of this Supplement has been unavoidably omitted, the Drawing or Impression having been mislaid ; it is described in the Catalogue and was in the Cabinet of the late lamented Dr. Scott.

In the Descriptive Catalogue of the Silver coins in the original work, the following errors have occurred.

- No. 32. WILAM. should be WILLAM .
- 232. DEI . GRA . was omitted.
- 335. IACBVS . should be IACOBVS .
- 460. SCOTOOR . should be SCOTOR
- 499. 191 should be omitted, and 191 inserted instead of 189.
- 500. 192 should be omitted, and 192 inserted instead of 190.

In that of the Gold coins the following errors :

No. 94. SCOTORVM . should be SCOTTORVM

———159. MAG . was omitted.

———170. FRAN . should be FR .

And in that of the Billon coins, the following error :

No. 17. VILA . should be VILLA .

In Pl. 8, No. 175 of the original work, the 3 points behind the head were omitted.

In Pl. 16, No. 29, of the original work R . should be REX .

The notice of Rev. Professor Christmas', rare Halfpenny of Robert III., was not in time for insertion in the Descriptive Catalogue, but the coin is engraved in Pl. 1, No. 20.*

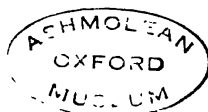

I have also been obliged to omit in the Engravings of the Billon Coins, that of the Penny of Robert III., with ROB . DEI . GRA . REX . the drawing or impression having been mislaid, it is described in the Catalogue.
